

Michelle Taylor

Solicitor
Personal Injury

Birmingham, UK

Michelle has more than 10 years experience in the field of personal injury law.

During her career she has assisted with high value and catastrophic injury cases, dealing with litigation and the day-to-day running of the cases.

Many of her cases have involved group litigation including the Maclaren Buggy amputation claims where the firm represented approximately 90 families whose children suffered injury due to a faulty mechanism in the product formation.

She is also dealing with the PIP breast implant group action concerning breast implants made from sub-standard silicone.

Michelle works alongside Richard Langton on serious and catastrophic injury cases.
