

Clive Howard

Senior Principal Lawyer - Employment and Partnership

London, UK

Clive undertakes all types of employment and partnership law work for his clients.

He has particular expertise in acting for individuals during contentious exits, whistleblowing and discrimination claims.

High profile cases he has handled include acting for the head of the UK Border Force, Brodie Clark, against the Home Office, and for Paul Moore, the HBOS whistleblower.

A major part of Clive's work is acting for partners in profit share disputes or on moving between firms.

He also has experience of advising employees in the financial services sector on FCA compliance and disciplinary issues.

Clive represents members of the League Managers Association. He has particular expertise advising senior individuals in the media sector.

Aside from his employment work, Clive has considerable experience bringing civil claims such as false imprisonment and wrongful arrest.

Expertise

- Employment terminations
- Whistleblowing
- Discrimination
- Profit share disputes
- FCA issues

Commendations from independent legal directories

- Top Solicitor in London in the 2014 London Super Lawyers Magazine
- Chambers and Partners: Clive is a "leader in the field". He is an "excellent negotiator" who is "always capable of securing a deal" as well as "a straightforward, personable lawyer who cuts to the chase". He is lauded as an "amazing ambassador" for the firm and is said to bring an element of practicality to each engagement.
- Legal 500: Clive is "very knowledgeable", providing "clear, proactive and expert advice".
- Spear's 500 Guide: lists Clive as one of the best employment lawyers for advising high net worth individuals.
- The 'Super Lawyer' list 2014 published by Thomson Reuter lists Clive Howard as an expert in employment law in England.
- Chambers and Partners: Clive is well known for his skill in representing equity partners in contentious cases.

Career history

- Since 2012 Slater and Gordon
- 1989 – 2012 Russell Jones and Walker
- Oxford University

Professional memberships

- Member of the Employment Lawyers Association and sits on its editorial committee
- Member of the Association of Partnership Practitioners