

Matthew Tomlinson

Practice Group Leader
Accidents at Work

Sheffield, UK

Matthew specialises in work accident compensation claims and acts solely for injured claimants.

He manages the employers' liability team in Sheffield which encompasses 13 lawyers and has national responsibility for practice development including training in this area.

His expertise has helped claimants secure substantial compensation payments for a range of devastating workplace accidents – some resulting in serious life-changing injuries.

Matthew regularly speaks at health and safety conferences and provides bespoke lectures for the firm's institutional clients and health and safety representatives on issues involving safety within the workplace.
