

Laura Cleevely

Solicitor
Clinical Negligence

London, UK

Laura is a solicitor in our clinical negligence team at Slater and Gordon Lawyers in London.

She qualified in 2011 and has since specialised in clinical negligence. She previously trained in a regional firm with a strong client focus and then moved to a national firm to strengthen her experience. She currently enjoys working in our London office within a close, experienced team that has a drive for client care.

Laura acts for claimants for a wide range of issues, including birthing and spinal injuries, misdiagnosis, fatal claims, surgical errors and consent issues. She has assisted in group action litigation and has experience advising clients on medical product liability claims.
